

Bar Standards Board Equality & Diversity Survey

Surveys are conducted every three years. Pursuant to the BSB rules they are anonymous and participation is voluntary. Our most recent survey was carried out in January 2021. A summary of the data collected appears below.

The results below are based on the respondents who completed the survey. The summary may not reflect the position that would have applied if all of those eligible to participate had chosen to do so.

Total numbers may differ from category to category because a response to each question was voluntary. Data is not published where its publication might reasonably lead to identification of individuals without their consent.

Under the BSB's current rules, Chambers may not publish data relating to sexual orientation or religion or belief unless every member of the workforce completes the survey and agrees to the publication of such data. As less than 100% of Chambers' workforce completed the survey, Chambers is not permitted to publish any data collected in respect of those characteristics, even in cases where individuals have consented to the publication of data that might identify them. However, we can confirm that there is a diversity of religious beliefs and of sexual orientations within Chambers.

Each diversity characteristic is categorized against job status and role in a manner which reflects seniority within Chambers. In order to be able to provide any data for publication, Selborne Chambers publishes its data in the following categories: (i) Barristers (including QCs, junior barristers and pupils); (ii) Employees.
